It is planned to make public the list of names in the near future. In a recent checking it was discovered six men were wrongfully placed in the deserter column and it is planned to give the list to American Legion posts and other organizations to assist in tracing down the men so that none will be publicly listed as deserters when they should not be so listed.

Harmony Keynote Of Statement By
J. F. T. O'Connor

J. F. T. O'Connor in a statement issued at Grand Forks asserts that the people who voted for the fusion ticket in the last election "will be found, whether on the farm or in the towns, helping every movement that will make our homes more happy."

Mr. O'Connor's statement follows:

"Seldom are we contending political forces in a state so equally divided as they were in the recent election. A change of one vote in each precinct would have turned defeat into victory. There could be no clearer demonstration of the importance of each vote, and of the responsibility of every voter."

A quarter of a million of men and women exercised their right of franchise last Tuesday. The state was favored with ideal weather conditions in fact sunshine of a late summer day gladdened the hearts of the army of voters and made possible the heavy vote. A storm would have spelled defeat for the league but no one with the proper spirit would wish a victory under such circumstances.

Confidence Unshaken

"My own defeat has not shaken my confidence in the people. It was a defeat and a private loss in such a fight. The eight weeks I spent among the people of my state taught me to know their generous hospitality, their unselfish spirit, and their kindness. Men and women without thought of reward left their daily tasks and devoted their energy to the common cause. In no campaign was there more volunteer work done and even if money were available it could not pay for the sacrifice. It was the volunteers that largely contributed to the result. When I opened the campaign there was not enough money in our treasury to place a single speaker in the field, and when the campaign closed there was not enough to pay the printing bills."

"The state has a high claim to our services. A hundred thousand people could destroy the prosperity, and stay the progress of the state, but the people who voted the fusion ticket are not that kind. They will be found, whether on the farm or in the town, helping every movement that will make our homes more happy. Let us draw no lines between those who vote for us, and those who voted against us. Let us not think of ourselves but of North Dakota."

"The election has established the fact that we have over 50,000 men and women who think first of their state, and then of their party, and who are true to the highest teaching of their respective creeds, which teach that there should be no discrimination because of creed."

M'NARY TO
DEVILS LAKE

Devils Lake, N. D., Nov. 11.—There are 16 criminal cases on the calendar of the district court, the November term of which was opened here yesterday by Judge Butts. The most important among the criminal cases is that of J. H. McNary, former manager of a cattle breeders association organized in Devils Lake. He is accused of embezzlement, the charge being based on the alleged acceptance and negotiation of notes in payment of cattle which he is accused of not delivering.

A civil case with an unusual angle is that of the Mann Department store against Chris Melde. Involving the price of an overcoat, Melde was told that the coat would cost $75 and he purchased the coat on that basis. Later the store notified him that the coat was $200, a mistake being made in the purchase price. In the justice court the store company failed to recover.

Another civil case is that of Christine Riddle of Minneapolis, who seeks $5,000 damage of the Tuttle Taxi line of Devils Lake for injuries received in an accident.

DEBATING SIZE OF CONGRESS ON NEW POPULATION

Action Must Be Taken as Result of Showing of New U. S. Census

SUGGEST NEW DIVISION

Membership May Reach 500 If Present Apportionment is Maintained

BY HARRY R. HUNT, N. E. A. Staff Correspondent
Washington, Nov. 11.—A bigger Congress—a smaller—or a reapportionment of seats among the states so as to retain the present numerical membership?

That is the three-horned problem confronting the House of Representatives as a result of the recent census which shows the United States to have 127,100,000 more inhabitants than in 1910.

The present membership of the House is 435—one for each 211,877 inhabitants or major fraction thereof under the 1910 census.

If the present basis of apportionment is maintained, the result would be an increase of 65 seats in the House, making the membership of that already cumbersome, unwieldy body exactly 500.

If the apportionment were to be increased to the limit possible without reducing the number of representatives from any state, the new basis of the apportionment would be 219,427, and seats would have to be provided for 52 new members.

Should a reapportionment be ordered on a basis which would retain the present numerical strength of the House, 435 members, a general redistribution of seats among the states would be necessary—17 seats being withdrawn from 12 states and given to nine other states.

And that's where the fight begins. Speak to any congressman past or present, and he'll tell you a House of 435 members is cumbersome, unwieldy, inefficient and not conducive to well-digested legislation. From the standpoint of good legislation, careful work out and thoroughly debated, a smaller House would be desirable, he will say.

But when you suggest the smaller House be secured by reducing the representation from his state, as well as from others, he balks. Could the smaller representation be obtained without reducing the numerical strength of congressmen from his particular state, each of the smaller House would vote for the smaller House. But as that cannot be, each member puts legislative efficiency second to political expediency.

As a result, the reapportionment fight in Congress will begin with a solid block of 100 votes actively working for an increase in the House membership to at least 457, for by that alone can the states of Missouri, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Vermont and Virginia escape a reduction in membership. To fix a basis that would retain the present size of the House would mean the loss of two seats to Missouri and of one in each of the other above states.

What Increase Means
An increase of 50 members in the House of Representatives would mean, among other things:

• An addition of about $600,000 yearly in the cost of Congress, the cost of the taxpayers for each member, including salary of $7,500, salary of secretary, mileage and various allowances, being about $12,000.

A further blurring of the legislative mill with bills and resolutions of secondary or of no importance to the nation, the House to give thorough attention to really important measures.

A probable reduction in the standard of representatives chosen.

A lessening of the sense of individual responsibility on the part of members generally.

A proprietary medicine, like every-thing else that comes before the public, has to prove its merits. The law of the survival of the fittest applies in this field as in others. The reason for the tremendous success of Lydia E. Masons to Have Charge of Hank's Services—Burial to Be at Glencoe

The funeral of A. J. Hanks, pioneer of Burleigh county, who died in a local hospital at five o'clock Tuesday afternoon, will be held Saturday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. The services will be held in the Webb undertaking parlors and will be under the direction of Masons, local Masons being asked to attend. Burial will be at Glencoe. Andrew Jackson Hanks was born in Pennsylvania sixty-two years ago. He came to Burleigh county upward of thirty years ago, where he taught in the schools of Burleigh and Emmons counties. After settling on his homestead near Menoken he married Ida May Buckley, daughter of George Buckley, now residing at 516 Thirteenth street. But the little home on the farm was soon entered by death, taking the young wife who left a four-months old daughter, Elizabeth Hanks. Soon after that time the father and baby daughter made their home in Bismarck, the daughter growing to womanhood in the home of her grandmother. The deceased lived quietly and unassuming in local hotels in Bismarck, looking after his farming interests which were large, and going to Florida for some of the winter seasons. Lately he has had a small home where he lived alone until illness compelled his entering a local hospital where he died.

The only relative of the deceased is his daughter Elizabeth, now Mrs. John Craven, whose home is the Hanks homestead at Menoken.

Worn Out In Mind and Body

Your child is quick to observe disturbances in your mental attitude or physical condition. And when he asks: "What's the matter, Daddy?" there's a tone of solemn anxiety in his little voice. The depression stamped upon you reflects intensely upon him because of his profound solicitude. He at once drops his playthings and rushes to your side, but his happy smile has disappeared and his buoyant spirits are gone—replaced by a countenance of worry and a bearing of hopelessness.

You owe it to the happiness and welfare of your family to keep trim in body and keen in intellect. You are the sun and the inspiration of their lives. Dark, threatening clouds hover over their heads the instant you show signs of being "out of sorts" or "under the weather." Don't let them think of the future by neglecting your health.

LYKO

The Great General Tonic

will banish that "first feeling" and dispel that worriment. It will renew your strength and vigor, overcome the ravaging effects of overwork and worry, revive your spirits and increase your hold on life. Being a refreshing appetizer, a valuable aid to digestion and a worthy promoter of the general health, because of its positive invigorating and reconstructive value, its use is especially desirable in cases of abnormal conditions. If you suffer from nervous exhaustion, muscular or mental fatigue, or deficiency of vital force, due to general weakness or wasting illness, you'll find "LYKO" particularly beneficial. It tones up the entire system and keeps you feeling fit. Ask your druggist for a bottle today.

WAR PRISONERS FROM RUSSIA IN TERRIBLE SHAPE

Curse Fatherland and Russia for Awful Treatment Received in Camps

MANY DRIVEN INSANE

Government Spends More Than Billion Marks to Bring Them Home

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Stettin, Germany, Nov. 12.—Every contingent of German war prisoners arriving here from Russia contains a number of ragged, unshaven, haggard men who have been made insane by suffering during many months in Russian prison camps.

In three weeks the German government sent 200 of these men to insane asylums and sanitariums for treatment. A few who have spells of violence, and during these periods may be kept under guard, but the majority present a listless, woe-begone aspect. They look about with dull, unseeing eyes, or sit quietly weeping, unconscious of the fact they are, home again.

The families and friends of the insane soldiers are allowed to greet them and to give them food and clothing before they are sent away for treatment.

Nearly all the prisoners exhibit the most intense bitterness not only toward Russia but toward the German government as well. One of them who had lost a leg and an arm and who, it was learned, had been taken prisoner early in the war and has been confined in many Russian prison camps, shook his fist at a German flag when he arrived and cursed his country, his people, and all other countries and peoples.

"To — with Germany!" he shouted. "That is not my flag and Germany is not my fatherland."

He then turned to the other prisoners and pointed to his wounds said: "What Germany did to me. This is what a kindly fatherland has permitted. Why didn't they exchange me? Because I have only one leg and one arm? I lost them fighting for Germany and all the thanks I've had for it were the rotten years in a Russian prison."

The prisoners generally agreed they had been unable to procure proper medical treatment in the Russian camps, and that their food had been very bad.

At the close of the war there were 250,000 war and civil prisoners in Russia, and 225,000 Russians in Germany. The German government estimates that not more than 5,000 Germans will remain in Russian camps this winter.

Before the Russo-Polish hostilities began the Russians were being returned rapidly but it is now estimated at least 200,000 Russians are still in German camps, 60,000 of whom are the troops interned when they crossed the East Prussian frontier during the Polish offensive.

The German government has expended 30,000,000 marks for transportation of Russian home, and 30,000,000 marks to bring German prisoners out of Russia.

SMALLER HOUSE IS FAVORED BY OLDEST MEMBER

Washington, Nov. 12. General Isaac Sherwood, Nestor of the House of Representatives, always did like a good fight.

Although past 55, Sherwood, representative from Toledo, O., is ready for another fight in the coming short session of Congress, when the question

"NAKED EAR" SHOCKS THEM

CHICAGO—Another bit of feminine immodesty is creating a stir. Chicago claims to have originated the new fashion. New York says it doesn't think much of it. The naked ear, of course. Haven't you seen the new style yet? Look at Cyrena Van Gordon, prima donna of the Chicago Opera Company, unblushingly having her picture taken with an undressed ear. So long hidden behind "biscuits" of hair, milady now reveals her ears — if she is up to date.

NEWSBOY KNOWS 100,000 FACES

NEW YORK—John Joseph has made a fortune selling newspapers with his memory as well as his voice. Joseph knows 100,000 faces. He never forgets the face of a customer. He holds out the paper each man wants, too. He sells 2,500 papers a day and says he can guess four times out of five what paper a strange buyer wishes.

of the future size of the House comes up.

"I am in favor," the old general declares, "of reducing the membership of the House to 300, not only as a measure of economy, but to promote efficiency in legislation."

"I voted against the increase to 435 members, believing then as I do now, it is a great mistake to increase the membership. At the coming session I shall oppose and vote against any legislation to provide increased membership. Instead of a larger House, we should have a smaller and more efficient body."

The proposition to increase the membership to 500 is being urged by some politicians simply because, under the new census, an increase will be necessary to avoid the reduction of membership from some states in fitting the representation proportionately among the states on the basis of the new census.

Breed Skunks To Bolster Fur Market

Washington, Nov. 12.—Breeding of skunks as a means of stabilizing the "depressed fur market" is the latest suggestion of the Department of Agriculture.

Despite all the harsh things that have been said about this lowly animal, the department describes him as "the best wild animal friend the farmer has." The skunk the announcement says, can be used for destroying mice, grasshoppers, crickets, and white crabs, at the same time furnishing the farmer from $50 to $100 worth of fur a year.

All that is required of the farmer, the circular says, is that he "respect the animal's den, keep his poultry in skunkproof yards, kill an old horse for him every fall and be tactful when he meets them in the evening."

Husband Preaches Snappy Sermon At Bier of His Wife

Berlin, Nov. 12.—Wide-eyed mourners listened in amazement to Oberdada, leader, Grand Exalted Ruler of the Order of Dadas, a literary society which believes the drama ought to be made more simple, when he recently preached a funeral sermon over the body of his wife.

Smilingly the Oberdada walked up to the coffin and in a bright and snappy little speech explained he had no occasion to grieve. Death, he said, was merely a matter of expansion, and he felt quite confident his wife was in a "wider life."

At the conclusion of his sermon the Oberdada made a cheerful exit.

BILLION SPENT FOR BREAD BY ITALIAN STATE

Government Feeds the People Who Spend $900,000,000 Upon Wines

Rome, Nov. 12.—Professor Ugo Amico, formerly Under Secretary of Transportation in the Italian cabinet, has just made public a statement that while the Italian government has spent more than $1,000,000,000 a year for bread for the people, the Italian workers have spent $900,000,000 a year on wine alone.

The government's expenditures for bread has resulted from its undertaking to pay the difference between the cost of producing wheat and the price of bread. In consequence of this the Italian workers have been able to buy bread at the rate of one lira for each kilogram of 2.50 pounds.

Professor Amico says that while the workers refuse to pay more than this, they have no objection to paying 4 or 5 lire for a quart of wine, which before the war cost about 12 cents a quart. He asks whether it is just that the Italian government should continue to supply over $1,000,000,000 annually for bread when the people do not begrudge $900,000,000 a year for the luxury of wine.

The professor advocates that the Italians should eat less bread and pay what it costs and that they should drink less wine and export more of

Do You Know a Baby Sick With Constipation

Tell the mother to give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

NO thoughtful mother with children in the house will risk being without a good, reliable laxative. It will save many a serious illness, many a doctor's visit.

When the baby cries and is fretful, when the boy has no appetite and won't play, when the girl is listless and feverish, when there are complaints of headaches and colds, the mother can suspect constipation. Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the small dose prescribed on the bottle, when you put the child to bed, and with morning the ailment will have disappeared.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a popular compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. It acts gently and mildly, and children take it without objection. A sixty-cent bottle is enough to last an average family many months. The ingredients are endorsed in the U. S. Pharmacopoeia, and last year American mothers bought over eight million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from druggists. It is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, and few cautious families are ever without it.

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Every body now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

so that the profit on wine would help to pay for importation of bread. The amount of land given over to wheat production in Italy greatly decreased last year. The disastrous result is that the imports are increasing daily.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1878)

THE PRESIDENT

Woodrow Wilson now belongs to history. He is no longer a contemporary political issue. Henceforth, men will survey his works with eyes clear of partisan bias. He passes from the scene, and there must come to all his countrymen a sense of having witnessed a great tragedy—a haunting sadness as after an evening at a play with a mournful ending.

The men of Woodrow Wilson's time may never agree over the right or wrong of his policies.

It is well that no accusation of partisanship now can rest against fair-minded Americans who, as he recedes into the perspective of history, accord to Wilson, the man, his due need of credit, while history weighs Wilson, the president.

Never has there come out of the presidency a figure so pathetic and appealing to the pity of all men: Those who have seen him recently speak of the sense of shock they felt when they came into his presence and saw an "old, old man, his face drawn and haggard, his eyes dull, his voice low and weak."

Sitting thus in his wheel chair, he awaits the hour when he shall be mustered out of service. In the meantime, a truce on hates and prejudices! It is a time for sympathy, generosity, understanding and justice. Let the great American heart open up once more to embrace not—if you will so have it—Woodrow Wilson, but the president of the United States.

What say you, fellow countrymen?

A day at the polls hasn't spoiled women for housework.

TRAIN YOUR EYES

What is the design of your bath room wallpaper? Quickly now, how many steps to your attic and how many to your cellar? Can you tell the number of prongs on your table forks? Most folks wander through life quite blind. They see the unusual things and the so-called interesting things, but never at all the things that surround them day after day.

But even the unusual most folks see with only half their eyes. You and your friend witness an automobile accident from exactly the same viewpoint. At dinner table you try to reconstruct the scene for the rest of the family. You will differ upon a dozen points and some of them essential. Neither of you really saw the accident. You only saw a little of it.

It all comes from a misunderstanding of the facts of the case. You say to yourself: "I was there! Of course I saw it! I have eyes, haven't I?" But it doesn't follow that because you were there and have eyes that you saw, anymore than it follows that because you have a violin you can play it.

You would expect to play a musical instrument only when your brain and fingers had been trained to its ways. Yet folks take it for granted that the far more difficult accomplishment of seeing all and seeing accurately is a heaven-given talent.

Train yourself at this business of seeing. Play the instrument of your eyesight as carefully as you would an instrument for the delight of the musical center of your brain.

Even an optimist finds a worm in a chestnut occasionally.

WONDERFUL BOYS

The boy who became a student at Columbia University at the age of 12 has distinguished historic company, consisting of a long line of wonderful boys who became renowned men.

Victor Hugo, the Frenchman and William Cullen Bryant, the American poet, wrote good verse when they were 10.

James Finnimore Cooper, author of the Leather Stocking Tales, entered Yale at 13, while Thomas Babington Macaulay, British writer and statesman, read and translated Greek when he was only 5, an age at which everyday children go to kindergarten.

Youthful genius generally has made good in later life, except in instances in which genius has been shadowed by physical or mental infirmities. Thomas Chatterton, the wonder-child of eighteenth century England, died at 18, a suicide, leaving behind a collection of unpublished poems of matchless power and beauty.

However, few of the men whose achievements have moved worlds were remarkable boys. Thomas Edison was an ordinary boy in whom no one detected signs of genius. The early energies of Abraham Lincoln were devoted altogether to conquering a wretched environment. General Grant was described as "slow" at school and was not much of a success until after 30. John Bunyan, author of Pilgrim's Progress, was a dull boy and his father always worried what was to become of him.

"Willy," says ma to her offspring, pointing to the picture of the bright New York boy, who has just entered Columbia, "just look at this boy. He's only 12 and he has already entered college. And here are you scarcely able to get along with your work in your grade!"

However, it should be consoling to Willy's ma to know that the world's greatest successes have been the ordinary boys, like Willy, and not the prodigies.

CONTEMPT OF COURTS

When H. F. Graham, former governor of Vermont, was sentenced in the Supreme Court of that state after having been convicted of embezzling state funds, he appealed to Governor Clement for an unconditional pardon.

And the very day the embezzler was sentenced by the highest court in the state he was given his unconditional pardon!

That is how the chief executive of an American commonwealth holds the highest court of his state in contempt. If that isn't real contempt of courts, what is?

Sentenced to prison for five years; pardoned immediately by the governor, before one foot had been set within penitentiary bounds—can you wonder that other convicted criminals of Vermont may entertain a decided feeling of contempt for the courts? If non-criminal citizens of that state escape that feeling in respect to their courts, it can only be because they have too great a contempt for the governor.

ENOUGH TO ELECT

Debs vote in North Dakota will probably exceed 4,000 or equal the majority which Frazier won over the Independents. Enough said.

Governor Smith of New York made a presidential possibility of himself.

Plenty of people will tell you they prefer chicken to turkey—but it's the bunk.

The country's tallest man is dead at Texarkana, which means the mediums will have to enlarge their cabinets if they expect to talk to him.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

THE SOLEMN REFERENDUM

The verdict as to the Wilson Covenant is final. Even the President, who sought two years ago the advice and consent of his fellow countrymen, and when it had been rendered refused to accept it and treated it as non-existent, can scarcely dare to refuse to recognize the meaning of this tremendous vote against him and his destructive policy.

Only thirty-one days ago he was saying: "This election is to be a genuine national referendum. The determination of a great policy upon which the influence and authority of the United States in the world must depend is not to be left to groups of politicians of either party, but is to be referred to the people themselves for a sovereign mandate to their representatives. They are to instruct their Government what they want done.  The whole world will wait for your verdict in November, as it would wait for an intimation of what its future is to be."

And whether the President accepts the verdict of the great and solemn referendum he has invited or once more attempts to ignore it, the event will be substantially the same; for however, the verdict may affect his reputation and his place in history the mandate that accompanies it is directed to his successor.

His successor will obey the mandate of the people.

Thank Heaven and the clear headed American voter, man and woman, that we can record the passing of the nightmare of Wilsonism. Beyond precedent or parallel in American history is this prodigious demonstration of sane political sentiment and healthy political purpose, repudiating him and his party and his self-determined theories of world entanglement and Executive domination at home. Thus begins the new day with its new issues, its new responsibilities and its new problems.—New York Herald.

THE BUSINESS END OF FARMING

By FLORENCE BORNER

I wonder how many farmers keep account books in which they keep track of their expenditures, income and cost prices. In this way alone can a farmer know definitely whether he is farming at a profit or loss. How long do you think a business man would last if he went at his work in the same haphazard manner some farmers carry on their business? Well just about long enough to call in a receiver. Yet, many farmers continue producing crops year after year with no more idea of what it costs to produce them than they have as to moon's inhabitants. Is it any wonder that the papers are full of mortgage foreclosures and notices of auction sales. The farmer keeps at it as long as he can then he sells out, or is sold out because he didn't attend to the business end of farming.

The methods used in our grandfather's day can have no place in our modern age. Scientific advancement has taken the place of old time customs, and the farmer who would succeed must live up to the times. He must know exactly what it costs to produce a profit to himself he must get into something that pays better. He must study his market and then produce what the market needs. The days of the wheat farmer are rapidly passing. Diversified farming is taking the place of the one crop method, and is paying a profit to the owner while the other plan failed completely. Even North Dakota farmers are learning this lesson. They are learning that the land must be used to its fullest capacity. When wheat farming is indulged in exclusively. The past few years of drought have taught us that we cannot hope to succeed by "putting our eggs all in one basket."

Happy indeed was the farmer who had at least ten good cows and a few hogs. He, at least was sure of an income from his cream checks, that would take care of his grocery bills.

SCHOOL-TEACHER NEEDED BRAINS

"I never have had such a 'God-send' come to me as when I took the first dose of May's Wonderful Remedy. I was afraid I would have to give up my school because of severe stomach, liver and bowel trouble which caused such a pressure of gas that I could not use my brain at times, and my heart would palpitate awfully. Since taking a treatment of May's Wonderful Remedy a year ago, all this has disappeared. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. All druggists."

while the man who depended entirely on his crop went broke. You have probably heard the expressions "Any one can be a farmer," but this is not the truth. A man in order to make a success at farming must be a business manager as well as a farmer—and attend strictly to business. The farmer is just beginning to realize his political strength, and I believe the next few years will see a revolution in the farming business—that is the farmer will demand a seat at the table with capital and labor. Instead of being contented to pick up the crumbs from the floor under their feet. The farmer has the power and the political strength and he will not hesitate to use them for his economic betterment.

POETS' CORNER

When I was just a little kid my mother used to say:
That if I wasn't mighty good an' minded her, each day,
A big black spook would catch me when I went upstairs t' bed
An' never bring me back again until I was plumb dead.
She told me awful stories of the things that spooks would do
He'd claw an' bite an' scratch me, an' he'd beat me black an' blue.
An' goodness knows I was scared
I'd lie in bed awake,
An' way upstairs all by myself, I'd shake an' shake an' shake
An' even since I'm grown up when th' wind begins t' shriek,
An' sets th' winders rattlin' with an intermittent squeak,
Although I ain't exactly scared, if truthful words be said,
I feel a wee bit safer when I've covered up my head.

Biblical Note
A bashful curate found the young ladies in the parish too helpful. At last it became so embarrassing that he left.

MRS. LAURA RARICK, of Peoria, Ill., who says she believes she is the happiest woman on earth since Taulac so completely restored her health. Reclaiming 50 pounds which she lost during a period of ill health which lasted eleven long years.

"I believe I am the happiest woman in the world, and it is all because of what Taulac has done for me," said Mrs. Laura Rarick, 403 Meldroth St., Peoria, Ill., a well-known and highly respected resident of that city.

"I never dreamed that I would ever find anything that would do for me what Taulac has done," she said. "I was so weak and my health was so poor that I was down in bed so long that I lost fifty pounds in weight, but I have gained back every pound I lost and I now feel as well as I ever did in my life. The indigestion and other troubles that made life a burden for eleven years have entirely disappeared and I am like a new woman."

"My stomach was so disordered that even liquid foods and plain water caused me to have dreadful cramping spells that lasted for hours. My kidneys were disordered and I had pains across my back almost constantly. I had severe headaches nearly every day and became so dizzy I could hardly stand. I was as nervous as it was impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. I tried every conceivable medicine and was treated by specialists, but nothing helped me, and finally I was told I would never be well again."

"But Taulac has made me a perfectly well woman in every way. I can now eat and sleep like other people and I haven't a pain about me. I am glad to give this statement, for I want to do all I can to let the world know about this wonderful medicine."

Taulac is sold in Bismarck by Jos. Breslow, in Driscoll by N. D. and J. H. Barrette, in Wing by M. P. Homan, and in Strasburg by Strasburg Drug Co.

BABY NAMED FOR HARDING, WILTON MAN GETS LETTER

The Wilton News says: John Koch, one of the veteran employes at the mine of the Washburn Lignite Coal company, is in receipt of a letter from President-elect Warren G. Harding of which he is naturally proud. Mr. and Mrs. Koch have named their two-month-old boy for Mr. Harding and wrote him to that effect. Mr. Koch is particularly pleased, because the reply was received during the stress of the campaign and he feels that Mr. Harding is a friend of the working man and is the right man for president.

The following is the letter from Mr. Harding's secretary:

Marion, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1920.

John C. Koch, Esq.

Wilton, N. D.

My Dear Mr. Koch:
Senator Harding wants me to acknowledge receipt of your letter of October 6th, and to thank you for it.

The Senator is complimented to know that you have named your young son for him, and he wishes the boy, his mother and you good health.

With kind regards,
GEO. B. CHRISTIAN, JR., Secretary

CARLOAD RATE QUESTION IS UP FOR CONFERENCE

The state railroad commission will be represented at a hearing to be held in St. Louis on Nov. 15 at which representatives of the Interstate Commerce commission will hear shippers and representatives of state commissions give their views on the proper minimum car load weights to be fixed for grain, flour and other grain products for Northwest territory. Representatives of North Dakota and South Dakota are expected to ask that the minimum requirement for a carload on flour, on which the carload rate is given, be reduced to 38,000 pounds for the Northwest. The minimum now is 48,000 pounds, according to V. E. Smart, rate man of the North Dakota commission. The position taken by the representatives tatives of the two states is that the present minimum on flour carloads is too high in sparsely settled communities. They wish the grain minimum to remain the same.

One of the North Dakota commissioners, who are in Washington attending the national association of utility commission members, is expected to stop at St. Louis. The members of the North Dakota commission, who are C. F. Dupuis, S. J. Aadahl and Frank Milhollan, will be in Washington for a few days.

HIS MANNER WAS "STRANGE"

But Under English Law Wife Was Denied Divorce From Briton Who Threw Hot Tar.

The wife of an English movie producer, one William Thomas Wilson, became quite put out the other day by what the London Telegraph describes as the "strange manner" of her husband. She took the matter into court and asked a separation.

Wilson was wont to throw the teapot at her as she lay in bed, she said, and to quote the Telegraph, "he would frequently come home late and play the cornet all night long, until every one in the house went nearly mad. When he wanted to annoy her he always started on one of his non-stop cornet-playing episodes, first remarking: 'Now I'm going to give you hell's delight.'"

Another annoying little habit of her husband to which Mrs. Wilson objected was that of throwing "boiling hot" jam tart at her. Occasionally, too, when his spirits were particularly "volatile," he would kick her out of bed and force her to sleep on the floor. His financial contributions to the support of her and their little daughter were somewhat meager—$5 and the rent.

In view of these little oddities Mrs. Wilson thought she should be given a separation. The magistrate listened sympathetically to her complaint. He admitted "the defendant seemed to have used a good deal of pictorial language," and he might have been a bit hasty on some of his acts, but his honor could not see that the wife had been the victim of "persistent cruelty." Mrs. Wilson probably had suffered a good deal of "moral cruelty," but he really couldn't see that she was deserving of her freedom.

RAFTS PROTECT RIVER BANKS

One of the latest developments in river bank protection is that of flexible rafts anchored in position and free to give with the rise and fall of the water which is now being tried on the east bank of the Missouri river near Folsom, Ia.

The rafts are built of logs and are not only strong and durable, but exceedingly flexible in every direction. The handling of the rafts was simplified by building them on barges which were towed to the location desired, where the rafts were made fast by cables running from the centers and joints to anchor piles, each pile holding two sections and the barges pulled out from under them, old boiler flues threaded on light cables being used as rollers. Reinforced concrete piles were used for anchors. It is expected that these rafts will take the place of the more expensive installations of mattresses, strong dykes and other forms of revetments.

Another interesting feature of the rafts is that of their flexibility. They are not only strong and durable, but exceedingly flexible in every direction. SITE OF ANCIENT CITY FOUND Workmen Unearth Ruins Believed to Be Those of Tiberias, Says Jerusalem Dispatch.

London.—The site of ancient Tiberias is believed to have been unearthed, says a Jerusalem dispatch to the London Times.

The alleged discovery of the ruins of the city, which played a notable part in Jewish and Christian history, was made by Jewish workmen who were building a government road near Tiberias, the modern town.

When the remains of old walls and columns began coming to light the government immediately stopped the work. The director of the department of antiquities then visited the spot, accompanied by two members of the Jewish Exploration society. The society has been given permission to conduct further excavations.

H. C. L. IS NOT NEW PROBLEM

1,600 Years Ago Citizens of Rome Were Tormented by Same Plague.

DEFIED THEIR MIGHTY RULER

Diocletian's Edicts Have Familiar Ring—His Edicts and Curses Doing No Good, He Advised Resort to Boycott.

Rome.—Let those who can draw comfort from the fact know that H. C. L. is no newer than many other plagues which poor humanity suffers from. In fact, the citizens of Rome, now tormented by further tears and wounds in prices, are trying to console themselves with the discovery, made by those who read ancient books, that this city was bothered with the problem 1,600 years ago.

In the reign of Diocletian, who flourished in 300 A. D., the emperor was so disturbed by his subjects, who suffered from the H. C. L., that he fixed the prices of foodstuffs and drew a schedule for workmen's wages. To read his proclamation is to read the many long-winded documents which food controllers, mayors and other public functionaries have perpetrated in the past three or four years. The condemning of the problem, "moved by a greed for profit which is out of all proportion to the real value of the goods he sells," and the imperial wish that his "fixed prices should be respected throughout the empire," have a familiar ring which makes glad the hearts of historians who want to make history popular.

But relief, comfort and joy do stop there. For it is enough to read a little further to discover that the good emperor's laws and curses against newly rich and profiteers were no use.

HUNTING FROM AN AUTOMOBILE

Thrilling Description of Unique Sport in the Moroccan Desert.

FOUR GAZELLES ARE BAGGED

Fast Driving Over Stony Plain to Get Within Range—Great Skill on the Part of Chauffeurs Necessary to Handle Cars.

London.—The Moroccan correspondent of the Times sends a thrilling description of hunting gazelles by automobile. He writes:

There are four of us. Hadi Thami Glavis, the Bashu of Marrakesh; Kaid Hammon of the Atlas; Sid Ayadi, Kaid of Rahama, and your correspondent. It is time to start. There is a car for each of us four sportsmen, and at the invitation of my hosts I take my seat beside the chauffeur, with two beautifully dressed black slaves in the back seat in attendance. The kaid enters their cars and we set out.

The cultivated lands are quickly left behind and the great plain of Rahama lies stretching away before us with the snow peaks of the Atlas bounding its southern horizon. Kaid Ayadi gives the signal and the four cars spread out—a few hundred yards apart—and proceed at a slower pace, about fifteen miles an hour. The ground is stony and rough, and careful steering is necessary. There are boulders of every shape and size loosely strewn over the plain, and little channels worn by water, insignificant enough in themselves, but highly damaging to motorists, are not skillfully maneuvered. Our chauffeurs, three Frenchmen and an Algerian, are skillful drivers and accustomed to this sport of the "Great Kaid."

Sighting the Game.
Suddenly one of the slaves in my car cries out and away ahead of me I see a herd of gazelle bounding over the plain. My car is on the extreme left of the line and our object is to head off the herd from the more stony ground and turn them to the right, where the plain is more level. Edging away always to the left our car quickens its pace, rolling from side to side and bumping. Seizing every opportunity of a few yards of good ground, we spurt forward, only to have to slow down again to manipulate some awkward spot. The gazelle are out of range, for it is only a shotgun loaded with solid bullet or buckshot that they can be got. To shoot with a rifle out of a car going at from forty to fifty miles an hour over rough ground is too much to ask or expect. There are less stones now and we are making headway.

The three cars on my right keep a little in the rear in order to facilitate my turning movement, but they too are making good pace. At times, for a few minutes, we are traveling at over forty miles an hour, and once or twice the gazelle are almost within range; then some little watercourse or some extra stony patch gives them their chance and they increase the distance again. At length our course seems clear and the car bounds forward. The pace is splendid but rather terrifying. Half standing, half kneeling on the seat, I wait to get my chance of a shot, then suddenly the car swerves in a way that nearly throws me out—and stops. A yard or two ahead in a dry watercourse, a meter wide perhaps, and half a meter deep and full of boulders, an impassable barrier—or rather a barrier the passing of which necessitates a search for a practical passage, and allows the escape of the gazelle, whose course toward the stony ground is now easy. A few minutes later we see them appear on the outline of a low hill, bounding over the rocks.

It was not long before fresh herds were put up, but always breaking away to the left they succeeded in reaching the low stony slopes that form the northern boundary of the Rahama plain. At a signal from Kaid Ayadi we turn southward to seek more advantageous ground, and emerging from the stony area our cars roll across the level plain at a pace of 30 miles an hour. Game, however, is scarcer here—though a great bustard falls to my gun, brought down by a charge of buckshot. At length, however, a herd of a dozen gazelle is sighted in the open, and at an increased speed the cars rush forward. The speedometer of my car marks 40 miles an hour, but we are not gaining on the gazelle, who appear easily to keep their distance of four or five hundred yards ahead of us. At another signal we increase the pace to 50 miles an hour. The plain is level, but there are stones and little undulations and many small watercourses, merely little ditches in the surface, but none the less exciting to pass over, and the exhilaration is intense.

Four Killed, One Taken Alive.
It is wonderful driving on the part of the chauffeurs, and the cars sway from side to side and slide and fall like boats in a rough sea. We are closing upon the herd now, as it looks as though it will be my car that will be the first to come up with them, but suddenly they turn aside to the right, and pass down the line of advancing cars.

The Bashu of Marrakesh's side figure is clearly visible as he stands in his swaying car. The gazelle pass him and with right and left he brings down two—beautiful shooting. Kaid Hammon's car is the next, and he, too, shoots his two gazelle. Once more the herd swerves, and passing between the cars, breaks back to the rear and is allowed to escape without further molestation—all but one, a young doe, who paralyzed with fear, stands motionless, and is easily captured alive and unhurt, to be carefully conveyed back to Marrakesh to become a pet in the bashu's house.

It may be argued that this class of hunting is not sport, that the gazelle have no chance of escape, but it is not so. The risk is great, an accident may occur at any moment, and the stony surface of the ground gives the gazelle a good chance. Of the many herds we saw the four gazelle shot and the one taken alive were our whole bag, though we covered 100 miles of distance on the plain alone, without counting our ride to and from Marrakesh. The hunting of the cars requires the greatest skill, and the shooting is by no means easy. To hit a running gazelle from a motor car traveling at the rate of 30 miles an hour over rough ground needs no little skill.

1920 COAL EXPORTS 'WAY UP

Bituminous Shipments 59000000 Tons Over Those of 1919, Says Latest Figures.

Washington.—Exports of bituminous coal from the United States during the fiscal year just ended exceeded by more than 5,000,000 tons bituminous shipments during 1919, according to foreign trade figures issued by the department of commerce.

During the fiscal year 1920 there were 52,976,925 tons of bituminous coal, worth $132,290,978 exported, compared with 47,382,337 tons, valued at $75,828,046 a year ago.

In addition bunker coal laden on vessels engaged in foreign trade in 1920 amounted to 630,453 tons at $7,233,478.

Canada took nearly half of the bituminous coal exports of 1920, receiving 10,470,510 tons. Italy, with a total of 2,862,778 tons, stood next as an export market for American coal, and Cuba, with a total of 1,243,008 tons, was third.

New York Peddler Advertises for Creditors of Twenty Years Ago.

New York.—Thomas Levinson was a peddler in this city 20 years ago. He ran up debts amounting to $450. With these unpaid, Levinson went to Boston in 1895 where he was unsuccessful, and later he went to Canada and got a job in a foundry.

When prosperity smiled on him his first thought, he said, was of debts he had contracted in Brooklyn. This accounts for an advertisement Levinson inserted requesting his creditors to apply to him for money due them.

"A man should pay what he owes," Levinson says. "I'll not leave a stone unturned until I find the people and repay them. I want particularly to locate the Carbons of Brooklyn. They loaned me $10 when my mother died. I must settle this claim if it takes me the rest of my days to find those good folk."

Stolen Kiss Costs Lothario Fine of $100

Boston.—A stolen kiss cost Seonit Gungl of Randolph $100 when he was fined that amount in the Quincy court for assault and battery on Rena Morn. According to the story told in court, Rena was in the pasture with other children gathering huckleberries when Seonit decided that she was sweet enough to kiss and tried it. He walked off her friends had gone to another part of the pasture and sneaked up behind her and kissed her. Rena told her parents, and they brought Seonit into court.

3 BILLIONS NOT IN BANKS

Enough to Put Nation's Liberty Bonds Back to Par Now Being Held in Stocking Bank.

Philadelphia.—The combined "Listed National bank" and the "Feather-Hen-Mattress bank" now hold more than $3,000,000,000 of the country's cash.

This is the estimate of William H. Hunt, acting governor of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve bank, made of the loose cash being carried around in pockets and stowed away in various places.

Even a small proportion of this $3,000,000,000 invested in liberty bonds would bring them back to par, he pointed out, or if the money was deposited in savings banks it would inject new life into industry.

Bull Bats Clothing

Mayville, Ky.—A bull with an unusual appetite forced Aaron Gaskins and Warren Spencer to ride into the city with automobile curtains as their only clothing. They took a plunge in a cool stream while seeking for minnows and a bull found their clothing on the bank and ate it. The bull then went to sleep, but the two men did some tall figuring before they thought of robbing themselves in their unique costume.

FATE HAS RAISED THE "DEUCE"

But American Tennis Cracks Will Make A Lot Of Racket In Fight For Davis Cup

BY LOBBY A. JACOBS

New York, Nov. 12.—Everything is not so bright and rosy for the United States Davis Cup players, William T. Tilden, Watson Washburn, Samuel Hardy, and William M. Johnston, as it might be.

A few months ago it looked like duck soup for the American racketeers in their journey to the Antipodes to snag the tennis honors. But not so now!

Williams Out Of It
A lot of things can happen in a few months and they certainly have been happening overtime with the tennisers.

In the first place, on the eve of the departure of the players, R. Norris Williams, the handiest server of the lot announced that he could not go because of business affairs. Gloom spread like football players on a kickoff.

But even more important was the sudden way in which Tilden cut short his trip across the continent Sept. 10. He was playing at Sioux City and suddenly announced that his constitution wouldn't stand it and came back home, suffering from a nervous breakdown.

He has since announced that he is again fit, but the doubtful hordes have been shaking their heads and spilling gloom in much the same fashion that the prohibition agents spill confiscated booze.

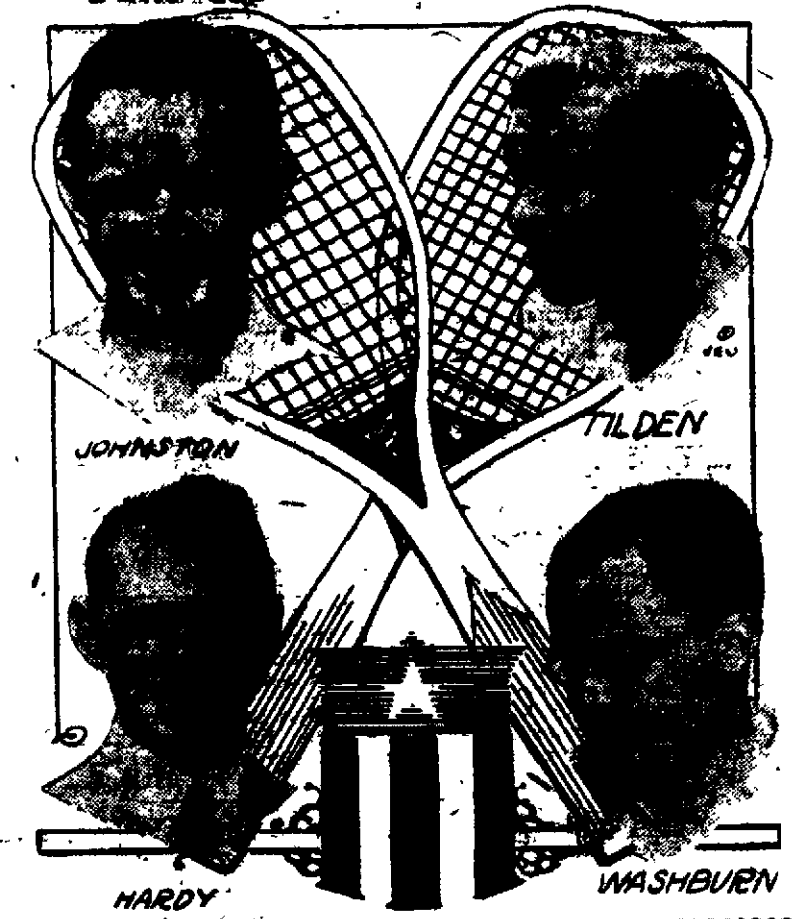

Beat Australians
And now the sad birds are digging up the disastrous experiences of the American team in 1911 to show that the four Yankees who will make the trip are courting disaster. However, this has been offset by the more recent victory of Americans over the Australian players who came here a year ago.

The American team has been scheduled to sail from Vancouver, B. C., on the Niagara, Nov. 12. They will go directly to Auckland, arriving about the first of December. This will give them several days before the matches open for the Davis Cup, the first game being scheduled for Dec. 20.

No end of preparations has been made in Australia. A special court is being built and there will be stands to accommodate 1,000. Titles, of course, are starting to American tennis players who are used to seeing such small galleries. The overhead game is a big hit in Australia.

May Play at Singapore
Tilden has consented to a special series of matches in Australia following the challenge matches. These games will stretch over three weeks and will include Melbourne, Victoria, Adelaide, Sydney, and a number of other places. There is also a chance that the American team may play in Singapore on the way home.

In spite of all the discouraging news, there are few in America who really believe that the Americans will not bring back the bacon—which in this case is wrapped up with the Davis Cup.

the owners of the five major league factions. The peace news was announced in dramatic fashion in the middle of an address Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Nationals, was delivering to the minor league meeting.

Herrmann, former chairman of the national commission, was interrupted by a messenger who handed him a note which he opened and slowly read. Then he made the announcement that the joint conference of the club owners had been agreed on for Friday.

While the National league club owners issued no formal statement most of them take the stand that what already has been done in the advancement of baseball reorganization cannot be changed at the conference today. This was taken to mean that the selection of Federal Judge Landis, as chairman of the new board of control at a salary of $50,000 a year must be accepted by the American league club owners.

The National league frankly admit they do not want a 12 club league unless it is forced on them to organize it, and that it would be a "joke."

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 12.—The annual report of the South Dakota tax commission shows that total crop acreage in the state has increased 822,057 acres since last year. The total area in farm now is 22,905,787 acres. New production in livestock has fallen off since last year. This year's total number of calves, 371,189, is a decrease of 74,310 from last year. Cows decreased 19,739, with a total of 27,824 this year. A total of 1,859,157 pigs is 40,887 less than last year. And there are 18,887 less spring lambs, the year's total being 215,306.

MANDAN BURIED BY WILLISTON TEAM 131 TO 0

Hopelessly Outclassed by State Champions of Two Seasons

About the only cheering message that came to Mandan high school baseball fans after the game with Williston yesterday was that "nobody was hurt."

The Williston team, twice state champions, buried Mandan, southwestern champions, by a score of 131 to 0 at Williston yesterday.

The game was expected to decide the championship of the western part of the state. The Mandan team was hopelessly outclassed from the start, and after the game had progressed a few minutes the Williston boys scored as fast as they could carry the ball down in the field in gains ranging from 10 to 80 yards. The Mandan team, however, fought gamely to the finish.

Williston stands out as the leading claimant for the state high school football championship.

PEACE MEETING OF CLUB OWNERS IS BEING HELD

Everything Indicates Settlement of Question As Magnates Go Into Session

Chicago, Nov. 12.—There was every indication of approaching peace in the baseball world today as the owners of the major league teams settled down to conferences here. The 14 clubowners of the National and American leagues agreed yesterday in Kansas City that they would meet in the same hotel here today and ambassadors were expected to carry messages back and forth.

The agreement to make a desperate last minute attempt to avert a baseball war was reached at a meeting of the directors of the American league in Kansas City, and was one of the results of conferences between
